

The atl Berkshire 200 is our entry level business telephone that offers a host of benefits that include a headset and modem port.

Whether for reasons of health & safety, or for simply keeping your hands free, the use of a headset is seen by many employers as a 'must have' requirement for its people. The headset port fitted as standard is compatible with major brands of headset.

A modem port, allows quick and convenient connection when sharing your telephone line with a computer.

The Berkshire models also comes with the choice of linecord connection, for either the standard UK socket or Category 5 installations requiring RJ45 connections. The complete atl Berkshire range feature voicemail message functionality that is available from your central switch.
